

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CAVALLO & TUCKER TEAM UP

AUGUST 2008

When you unite a great saddle pad company with an esteemed saddle maker, you get a powerful combination that provides the ultimate solution for back protection. Cavallo Horse & Rider, recognized world leader in saddle pad development, has created the definitive co-brand with Tucker Trail Saddles. Designed to fit comfortably under the Tucker Saddle Range, Cavallo Pads come in All Purpose and Bridge Pad styles.

Since 1994, Cavallo Pads have been used to keep horses comfortable and compensate for saddle pressure and rider weight. DVM Nick Kleider states, "A saddle is a static object, but your horse is a living, dynamic creature. Even slight changes throughout the year in your horse's weight and level of fitness have an impact on saddle fit which can significantly impact on your horse's experience. That's just common sense, of course. But many riders forget that a horse normally undergoes alterations in weight and posture through the seasons and throughout his or her life. A good saddle pad is worth its weight in gold, especially when evaluating the protection it offers for hard working performance horses."

This technical saddle pad can solve many saddle fit problems. Used in conjunction with your Tucker Saddle, Cavallo Total Comfort System Saddle Pads will ensure your horse the best comfort available.

Tucker Saddle Pads by Cavallo are available where Tucker fine saddles are sold.
